

An abstract painting featuring a vibrant mix of colors. The background is a soft, pale blue. In the center, there's a bright, almost white area that transitions into a rich, fiery orange and red. To the right, there's a dark, almost black, textured area that looks like a splash or a shadow. The overall effect is dynamic and energetic, with visible brushstrokes and a sense of movement.

Simon's fascination with the world around him clearly manifests itself through his work, yet no piece is ever site specific. His aim is for the viewer to connect personally with each composition – to be reminded of a place they once knew, or visited by an unexpected moment of emotion.

“My personality is a big part of what I paint. I do become incredibly emotionally connected to my work, almost treating it as though it’s a living thing. My mood plays a part in the colours I choose, or the way I use my brushes and knives, and it can certainly affect the direction of the work; that’s what makes it so special to me.

Born in 1976 in Dublin, Ireland, Simon discovered his love of art at a young age.

Following his natural artistic instinct he acquired techniques and preferences which he relates through his work, encompassing brush and palette knife work, subtle under-painting and graduating alterations in colour.

Dramatic, atmospheric and totally captivating,

Simon's dynamic abstracts are widely collected by both private and corporate clients located around the globe, and have appeared in many prestigious exhibitions and galleries.
