HUMPHREYS

PETE HUMPHREYS
HAS ALWAYS LOVED
FILMS AND BEEN FASCINATED BY WAYS
IN WHICH HOW THE
DIRECTOR USES THE
CAMERA TO FRAME
ATMOSPHERE AND INTENSITY.

Pete emulates this cinematic technique when he captures moments and composes scenes and portraits. He has long been inspired by the Impressionists and the way in which their loose brushwork blends into an image from a distance, but on a closer viewing dissolve into a mass of vigorous marks and strokes. He combines these two influences to create iconic portraiture that captures the essence of the subject as well as the precise moment that they inhabit.

“I AM NOT TRYING TO FOOL THE VIEWER INTO THINKING THAT THEY ARE SEEING A PHOTOGRAPH, BUT RATHER AM EMBRACING THE OPPORTUNITY TO INTERPRET IN PAINT WHILE RETAINING A SENSE OF HONESTY AND ACCURACY.”

HE STUDIES FACES AND TRY TO UNDERSTAND THEM, LOOKING FOR NUANCES AND FEELINGS, BELIEVING THAT THE MORE THAT YOU STUDY AN EXPRESSION THE MORE YOU WILL KNOW YOUR SUBJECT FOR YOUR PORTRAIT AND THIS WILL ADD AN EXTRA LAYER OF INTENSITY AND AUTHENTICITY.
