

TODD WHITE HOLLYWOOD ARTIST TO THE STARS

Todd's stylish new collection focuses exclusively on women, giving us his highly personal take on the machinations of the female mind. His unerring hand recreates every nuance of body language and expressions - a sidelong glance, a come-hither stare - and draws us inexorably into his enticing world of intimate strangers. But as the title of the collection suggests, the words on their lips and the smiles on their faces do not always tell the truth.

Since Todd made his UK debut at the end of last year his work has gone straight into the Top 10 Bestsellers List. Investors are snapping up his ultra-stylish avant garde images which have won him the epithet of Hollywood's 'artist to the stars' and an army of celebrity collectors including P Diddy, Sharon Stone, Jimmy White, Catherine Zeta Jones, Vin Diesel, Hugh Hefner, Abbey Clancy and David Dunn. Amongst his many achievements Todd is the artist of choice for the world's most high profile showbiz events. His appointment as Official Artist to the GRAMMY® Awards, and Warner Bros's invitation to celebrate the 70th Anniversary of 'The Wizard of Oz' on canvas (later bought by Sylvester Stallone) have cemented his position as the world's most glamorous artist. Todd also has a serious side, and recently flew in to the UK to receive the Diana Princess of Wales award Gold Medal for services to the Diana Awards charity. He inhabits a world peopled by those faces we all recognise - caught on camera shooting the breeze with Glenn Close, being interviewed by the great Larry King, chatting to Paris Hilton in the Green Room or entertaining boxing world champion Wladimir Klitschko in his studio.
