A WORLD OF DREAMS

A solitary walk in the countryside is the perfect way to allow your thoughts to settle and once that has happened you just need to find the right stopping point. Something – a distant steeple, a figure in the mist, a particularly beautiful tree – will always halt me in my tracks and the next composition will begin to take shape in my mind. Through painting I can convey my emotions much more directly to the viewer which to me is what art and painting is all about.
